Following the completion of the PMP Exam Prep Boot Camp, each student will be given the opportunity to use The Mathis Group's Aftercare and Coaching Services. In the time between finishing the boot camp and waiting to take the certification exam, we want our students to stay focused and continue to review the information learned in the class. The Aftercare and Coaching Services can be used as much or as little as needed by each individual student. These services are included in the price of the class, and it is our hope that they be used as needed to prepare for the exam.

First, each student will be given access to our online version of the PMP Exam Prep class to use for extra review and clarification. By email, each will receive the course link, a user name, and password. They are encouraged to review the sections they found difficult. They may also take additional practice exams online; there are 28 new exams in the online version.

Second, each student has access to The Mathis Group's staff for any questions or concerns that may arise during the review time. Coaching will be available by phone and/or email until the student has passed the certification exam. It is not uncommon for questions to arise about the exam or its content, and we want to make sure answers are provided.

We suggest the students schedule and take their exams within 30 days of the class (the week following the class is the best time). After taking the exam, we ask that the students call our 800# and report their pass/fail results within 24 hours. If the student fails the exam, we will continue to offer coaching by phone/email and provide guidance in preparing for the second try.
